Liberals Head A Shaky House In Model Parliament Tonight

Queen For A Day

Gales Completes Career With Graduates' Society

Mr. D. Lorne Gales having been appointed as Development Officer of McGill University, is now devoting his full time to the new responsibilities.

Gales, having completed his work with the McGill Graduates Society, is directly responsible to the Principal, and now has the job of coordination and planning all the fund-raising activities of McGill. These comprise plans for future capital campaigns to obtain the funds which will be urgently necessary, in view of the great building programme confronting the University in order that it may play its part in the education of the increasing numbers of young people coming up from the high schools.

Fund-raising also includes the activities of the Alma Mater Fund, the McGill Associates, the development of a bequest programme among all friends of McGill, and as Development Officer Gales will be fully occupied in consolidating all these far-flung activities.

FUND RAISING

A personal campaign conducted by Mr. J. W. McConnell, senior governor, succeeded in raising in 1943 the sum of $7,000,000 and the McGill Fund Campaigns in 1947 and 1956 were successful in raising from business and industrial organizations, graduates, and all friends of the University a total of over $17,000,000. As secretary to the McGill Fund Committee Gales will plan for the next public appeal for funds at a time when the Board of Governors feels that such an appeal is appropriate.

The Alma Mater Fund grew out of the effort of the graduates in raising $350,000 in 1947 for the War Memorial Swimming Pool and from the desire to continue this interest. Graduates of all years since then have subscribed a total of $1,954,000.

The McGill Associates group first brought together in 1939 by Mr. G. C. McDonald and Mr. Ross Clarkson "as an organization composed of those whose bond of companionship was the common desire to be of service to McGill" have in the intervening twenty years contributed a total of $521,000.

All this money has been utilized in the expansion and development of the University in the last twenty years but "we must now plan on a much wider scale for the next decade," and the Board of Governors expects that Gales with his knowledge of the business community will make a great contribution as Development Officer of McGill University.

11 Executive Spots Contested Today

McGill students go to the polls today to elect their Student Executive for the coming year. They will choose from 17 candidates to fill the six available posts. Four candidates have already been elected by acclamation.

In addition, nine Red Wings will be elected from 15 candidates, and five Women's Union posts will be filled from among the 17 running.

TURNOUT

Murray Greenwood, chief returning officer of the elections, told The Daily yesterday that an average turnout of about 40% is expected. There will be 15 polls set up around the campus, each one manned by one deputy returning officer per hour.

Greenwood said that Tuesday was chosen for the election because it seemed the best day for members of all faculties.

"The elections must be called three weeks in advance," he explained, "and at that time, taking into consideration not only Arts and Sciences and Engineering but also the other faculties such as Graduate Studies and Law, it was generally agreed that Tuesday is the most favourable day."

REGULATIONS

Voters are cautioned to comply exactly with the SEC voting regulations. Ballots are to be marked with an "X" only, or they will be invalidated. In the recent Model Parliament elections, which were conducted according to SEC rules, up to 40% of the ballots had to be rejected because voters either were unaware of or simply chose to ignore the regulations.

In last November's elections a total of 41% of the eligible students voted. Architecture led the faculties with 58%, and Law followed closely with 57%. Arts and Sciences, however, lagged badly with only 33%, and the Engineers fared even worse, as only 23% voted.

Today's elections will decide the SEC representatives for the coming year. Another set of elections will take place sometime in March, when 24 more campus posts will be filled, including those of Student Society President, President of the Students' Union, and Women's Union President.

Student Directories

The Students' Directory, McGill's "Who's Who?" is now available at the Union Box Office and the Arts Building Porter's Office on payment of the 25 cent fee. Watch the Daily for a review of this, the latest edition of the University's "most widely read" publication.

by ROBERT PRINSKY

The Liberals today announced their proposed course of action for Model Parliament, amidst rumours of deals between the Conservatives and the G.N.U.

The Liberals, with 20 of the total 40 seats, will attempt to form a government in the 1960 McGill Model Parliament, which will convene in the Union Ballroom, tonight at 8 pm.

They plan to introduce "A Bill to Ensure Equality of Access to Higher Education," which will, they hope, be the main topic of debate for the session.

Meanwhile, behind closed doors, there have been many rumoured meetings between high-ranking GNU's and Conservatives. The object would seem to be a coalition, but at press-time, the two parties had not come to an agreement. Although they felt anything was possible, neither seemed to think that a direct union would come about.

LIBERAL PROPOSAL

The Liberals, in their main piece of legislation, advocate that the national government establish a nationwide total of 15,000 scholarships, each valued at $625, distributed on the basis of Provincial population.

A Royal Commission should be established to investigate the state of education in Canada and to recommend ways by which donations to education may be increased.

Upon receipt of this report, the Government should aid in the expansion of University facilities in Canada.

Bob Amaron, last year's Prime Minister, and a PC member of the 1960 House, said that the Conservatives believe that any bill on education is worthwhile. He declined comment on this particular bill until he had studied it further.

SECRET DOINGS

There have been many rumours of talks between the PC's and the GNU, for their combined total of 22 seats will outnumber the Liberals. While it is true, that meetings have taken place, it is difficult to assess their actual outcome.

Amaron said that "as the National Development Party, we are in sympathy with the aims of the Greater National Uplift party (GNU).

When confronted with the coalition question, Morris Fish, a prominent GNU, commented "there's always a GNU rumour on campus. It is quite true that the PC's approached us with a view to forming a coalition government."

Usually reliable sources told the Daily that it is unlikely that the Liberal Bill will reach the floor. This source declined to say exactly what the opposition has up its sleeve, but was quite certain that "an interesting unscheduled motion will be put forth."

TONIGHT WILL TELL

Only tonight's meeting will reveal the exact nature of all these back-room dealings. Andy J. Roman, Chairman of the Steering Committee in charge of the affair, said that the public is most cordially invited to support the party of their choice.

"They can boo and cheer as much as they please, but should bear in mind that the sergeant-at-arms and his cronies can and will evict anyone who is overexuberant."

"The aim of this session is to show students how parliament functions. Prof. Mallory, Chairman of the department of Economics and Political Science will give a short talk beforehand, to enlighten those present on parliamentary procedure."

CTCM IS BALANCE

The splinter parties have taken on an important position in these dealings.

This is another major source of interest. With its four seats, CTCM can swing the balance in either direction.

Speaking for the CTCM, Steve Roth said "we have been approached by the three major parties with views of coalition. A party caucus will be held at 5 pm. tonight to decide our position. At this time, I cannot say where we lean; all three have made attractive offers. We may just go in as a separate party, and vote on matters as they come up."

The Liberal Cabinet will consist of Martin Aster, Prime Minister.

Architecture — Elect One

Morris Charney

Rudy V. Javosky

We here at the School are trained to understand the significance of a designed campus. My objectives are:

1. To familiarize the student body of the necessity of a Master Plan for McGill and the appointment of suitable architects for building projects.
2. To become active in the New Union Committee and to emphasize the need of a well-designed building.

I feel capable of carrying out these objectives because of my previous concern with these problems. The qualifications to consider are the ability and desire to stress these issues.

As evidence, I offer the initiative I have shown in former positions.

PEN SKETCH

Morris has been active on campus since he came to McGill in 1953.

At present he is:

Co-Editor — R.A.I.C. Journal Publication.

Chairman — A.U.S. Reporting Committee.

Editorial Board Member — Forge Magazine.

He partakes in inter-faculty sports and debating.

During open house '59, he became actively involved with design of campus buildings, and was in charge of the New Union Exhibition.

Morris has also excelled scholastically: — former University Scholar, he led his class in 3rd and was winner of the Atlas Design Prize in 4th.

These qualifications together with his sincere attitude justify our nomination.

COMMITTEE FOR THE CANDIDATE

For me to make promises of great achievements would be a falsehood, for only the Great Divine knows the future, but on the other hand I can promise you that if elected I would fill my position with all the spirit, stamina and intelligence which I possess.

I feel strongly that within our school there has been forged for me a definite platform which I have briefly outlined below.

1. The continuing fight for a new students union whose architectural beauty we can all be proud of.
2. The co-operation in any way possible for the establishment of a master plan for the expansion of McGill University's campus.
3. The formation of a special cultural improvement fund for the School of Architecture enabling us to enlarge on our present scope of speakers and art exhibitions.
4. Fighting for or against anything which directly or indirectly affects the students whom I represent.

PEN SKETCH

Rudy is a 5th year student and is presently the president of the A.U.S. Previous to this he had served two years as treasurer. He has worked for the Plumbers Ball Advertising Committee and Combined Charities as well as taking an active part in intra-faculty football, hockey and basketball.

Ted Elfstrom And Group Perform In Redpath Hall

SCOPE will sponsor the return of Ted Elfstrom and his Woodwind Group to Redpath Hall on Wednesday, November 30, at 8.30 pm.

Only last week the octet performed at Bishop's University receiving a tremendous ovation.

Woodwind instruments used by the group consist of flutes, saxophones, clarinets (with doubling on bass clarinet and oboe), spinet, string bass, and percussion. Elfstrom's group was one of the first to employ a spinet as a basis for jazz interpretation.

A pioneer in the field of music known as Jazz-In-The-Round, Elfstrom interprets classical structure in the jazz idiom. Highlighting tomorrow's concert will be selections from the works of Rossini, Milhaud, Mozart, Telemann, Nicholas Ayoub, Art Phillips, and Al Baculis.

Elfstrom and his group have become familiar landmarks on the musical scene across Canada and the United States through the benefit of concerts, radio, and television. He was recently the recipient of an award at the Congrès du Spectacle "in recognition of his worthy contribution to orchestral jazz."

An album of the Octet's best known works, entitled "Surprise! Surprise!" has been released on the Laurentian label.

Tickets for the Elfstrom concert on Wednesday night are now available at the Union Box Office. The cost for students is 35 cents, for the general public, $1.00.

Engineering — Elect Two

Fred Drury

Ian Leslie

During the past two years I have developed the opinion that a great deal of the responsibility for student apathy on this campus must lie in the Student's Executive Council. I mean by apathy, not only apathy with respect to the athletic program, but a general student dis-interest in all that which differentiates a school from a University. To generate more student interest, I propose the following reforms:

- (1) More contact between SEC representatives and their constituents in order that students be better informed of what their council is doing in their behalf.
- (2) A tighter control over SEC spending.
- (3) A well distributed publication of the minutes of the SEC meetings for the benefit of the student body.

PEN SKETCH

We feel that Fred Drury is best qualified for Engineering SEC Representative. Our candidate has been active on campus during his three years at McGill, and his fine qualities of leadership and organizational abilities have been prominently displayed. Some of his positions include: Co-ordinator of the recent Red Feather Campaign; and member of the Plumbers Ball Committee for 1961.

Fred will take to the SEC a reputation for diligent, well directed service in all his endeavors.

COMMITTEE FOR THE CANDIDATE

At McGill, I feel I have gained a great deal from campus activities. With the amount of activity at McGill, every student should have the opportunity to participate in these activities and I wish to encourage wider participation so that the average student may get more out of his university life.

The first duty of any SEC representative is to represent his faculty. I promise to give Engineering the best representation possible, to press for a solution of the problems which concern the engineer, such as a new Union, and to keep the faculty informed as to the actions of the SEC.

PEN SKETCH

Ian Leslie has been active in E.U.S. and other activities. Last year, he was chairman of the Plumbers' Ball. He has been co-chairman of the Engineers' Blood Drive, and has been active on the social committee of the McGill Union.

This year, he is a delegate to the McGill Conference on World Affairs being held on the campus. He is also commissioned a full lieutenant in the Canadian Army (Armoured Corps). We feel that with this well-rounded experience and a sincere interest in Engineering, Ian Leslie is your best choice for SEC representative.

COMMITTEE FOR THE CANDIDATE

First Year Rep. Women's Union

M. V. Adderley

A graduate of Berkely Institute, Pembroke, Bermuda, Marilyn entered McGill in 1960 having received her Cambridge School Certificate at first class level, and her Cambridge Higher School Certificate.

In school Marilyn was active in athletics — netball, volleyball, hockey, softball, and modern dance. In 1958 she was co-captain of the Track and Field Meet.

She held the responsible position of Prefect, and later, Senior Prefect at Berkely. After graduation she was Junior Assistant Teacher in the Physical Education Department.

It is apparent that Marilyn is capable of holding the position of First Year Representative to the W.U. COMMITTEE FOR THE CANDIDATE

Judy Van Vliet

Judy Van Vliet, a nominee for member at large representing first year on the executive of the Women's Union, has had a great deal of experience in student government.

In High School she served on countless committees — social, cultural, literary, — was Student Council representative three times, and also ran for the position of Student Council President. She has, however, maintained a good average in her school work, and this year was awarded a University Entrance Scholarship.

Judy has demonstrated her ability in the past, and would very much like to represent you in the future. Please give her your support.

As your S.E.C. candidate I pledge myself to strive for the following objectives:

I will continue my efforts to increase participation of the students in the lower years, in the various activities of the S.E.C. and the E.U.S., by encouraging their representation on the organizing committees.

I propose to investigate the operation of the McGill Book store, to ensure that Engineering books and supplies are distributed at the lowest possible prices.

I will encourage the establishment of closer relations with Engineering faculties of other universities to promote mutual interests.

I will protect the best interests of the Faculty of Engineering in any issue that may come before the S.E.C., sparing no time or effort to provide proper representation.

PEN SKETCH

Players Hold Auditions For IVDL Production

The Players' Club has announced that casting will begin today for McGill's student written entry in the Inter-Varsity Drama Festival, "The People Are Not With Us" by James Rother.

Leslie Caplan, director of the production, tentatively scheduled to appear at three universities, Western, Plattsburgh, and Yale, believes the play to be much improved by revision over the production staged last year by Experimentals '60.

"The play is challenging from the actor's point of view," he said, "being based on extremely subtle characterization and thematic development. I think it has an excellent chance of winning at the Festival if its theatrical potentiality is given the maximum amount of play."

The performance being given in Plattsburgh is in the form of an exchange as the State Teachers College is also giving a performance here in Montreal. They have announced their play to be Tennessee Williams' "A Streetcar Named Desire". This will be presented in March on Moyse Hall's stage.

"We expect a strong turnout at auditioning," stated Jim Khazzam, IVDL producer. "We feel that McGill has a great deal to offer the Festival, as we will probably have the only arena production entered, and one of the few student written plays. Our absence in past Festivals has been strongly commented upon."

Casting begins at 7:30 pm in the Walter M. Stewart Room of the Union, and will continue on Thursday and Friday at 7:30 in the Union Basement Workshop. An additional audition will be held on Friday from 1 to 2 pm in the Workshop.

'America Should Permit Britain To Lead West'

by JUDY BLOOME

Debaters of the Indian and Ukrainian Clubs Thursday decided that "the USA should allow Britain to resume leadership of the Western Powers".

Upholding this resolution were S. P. Singh and T. Nijhowne, both in Graduate Studies. R. Karpishka, B.A. 3, and Jo Hykawy B.A. 4, spoke for the Negative. The Chairman was Ayojunaid, B. Com. III, while R. Steinman served as Judge.

AFFIRMATIVE

The first speaker for the affirmative, Singh said that in the past fifteen years the USA has proven to be unco-ordinated and inefficient, and incapable of maintaining leadership of the Western Powers. This was shown in the U-2 incident. The government of the United States first said that this was a reconnaissance plane, then, that it was a spy plane but that it had not acted upon orders, and finally, that it had acted upon orders and such flights would continue.

Although the USA is very powerful this does not give it any claim to the leadership of the Western Powers, for, "it is leadership which determines power and not power which determines leadership". The policy of the US is based on political sentiments and emotions while that of the UK is based on shrewd consideration and diplomacy.

NEGATIVE

The first speaker for the Negative, Hykawy said that the US has military leadership and that power has always determined leadership. There is, in Britain, a high percentage of pacifism — many people will say "leave the leadership to the US". This attitude is not nearly so prevalent in the United States.

The recent election of a Catholic President, Kennedy, indicates that US politics are not based on emotions.

Nijhowne, the second speaker for the affirmative, said that the leadership of the US is shaky and insecure. The US bases its leadership upon a negative precept. It has nothing positive to offer and its policy is driven by fear. Its only claim to leadership is its mere military strength. The UK should resume leadership of the Western Powers on the basis of her Economic security, relative reliability, and influence on and friendship with the free countries of the World.

CONTRADICTION

The second speaker for the Negative, Karpishka, insisted that the affirmative had stated that the UK had better ideals than did the US and that although this might be correct it was irrelevant. The Debate was concerned with the realistic leadership of the West and not the idealistic leadership of the world.

Some of the claims of the US to the leadership of the Western Powers are its technological advances, its economy, and its Foreign Policy.

In the field of economics, everything is measured in the US dollar. In her Foreign policy, the US is internationally-minded as is indicated by the World Bank and the Rehabilitation Fund. In the US there is a clear division between Church and State which does not exist in the UK. The US has a policy of progress and youth, while that of the UK is one of decadence.

The Judge, Steinman, stated that each side had made too many generalizations which they maintained throughout the debate. Although the negative was better organized, gave the Debate to the affirmative because of their material and their final rebuttal.

ASUS Sponsors Tournament For Novice Debaters

Elimination rounds for the Arts and Science Novice Debating Championship will begin on Monday, December 5.

The Faculty Debating Society has decided to hold these debates much earlier than the usual February timing for these reasons.

1) The Society wishes to encourage more novices to participate in this interesting and profitable pastime and the late date proved to be burdensome for many prospective debaters.

2) The Society has arranged to send teams to at least two major tournaments, in the United States in early 1961, and must choose his representatives for these debates in the near future.

Novices are asked to enter as teams of two, anyone in the university whose debating experience does not extend beyond the Novice Tournament in Burlington being eligible.

Applications should be given to John at the Tuck Shop before Dec. 3 at 4 pm, and should include the names of the debater, year and telephone number.

Elimination rounds will begin at 1 pm on Dec. 5 and will continue every day of that week until a champion team is determined. Debaters will be given reasonable notice of the time, place and topic of their debate.

New Scholarships Offered

Two fellowships of $3,000 annual value have been established at UBC and U of M by Aluminum Limited. Similar fellowships, already in existence at McGill and Toronto, have been extended

These are only a small part of the scholarships granted annually to Canadian students by industrial firms. Alcan, Newfoundland Fluorspar Ltd., and the Johnson Foundation recently announced their respective scholarships.

FOR POST GRADS

Applicants for the Aluminum Limited fellowships must have been admitted for post graduate studies in mathematical and physical sciences. Preference is given to candidates intending to pursue their studies in the field of metallurgy.

The fellowships are tenable for one year, but may be renewed at the discretion of the university. They have a total annual value of about $3,000, of which $1,000 goes to the university for use by the faculty in which the fellowship is held; the remainder covering tuition fees and providing a cash grant of up to $1,600 to the fellow. Administration of the fellowships is in the hands of the universities.

These fellowships have been in existence at McGill and Toronto since 1955, and will be available at UBC and the Ecole Polytechnique, Engineering Faculty of the University of Montreal, for the first time during the 1961-62 academic year.

UNDERGRADS

The Aluminum Company of Canada, affiliated to Aluminum, Limited, grants 18 Alcan Scholarships annually in the field of undergraduate studies. Students of fourteen Canadian universities are eligible to receive them. They have a total annual value of $700, of which $500 goes to the student, and $200 to the university.

Alcan also sponsors the O. M. Montgomery Memorial Bursaries at Queen's.

Another subsidiary of Aluminum Limited, Newfoundland Fluorspar Limited, provides an annual scholarship at Memorial University, St. Johns, NFLD.

Johnson Foundation scholarships are available to Canadian students enabling them to spend a year in an American university for post-graduate work. The value of the scholarships varies according to the needs of the individual student, past awards having ranged from $600 to $1,000 per student.

At least one of these scholarships is offered yearly, by the Johnson Foundation and S. C. Johnson and Son. Applicants for this scholarship must submit letters of application to the registrar, from whom they may obtain further information, before December 5.

NOVEMBER 29, 1960

A Veneer of Self-respectability

This has been a really big year for democracy. Going back only six months, we find one provincial general election, one municipal election, a city-wide referendum, a United States presidential election and numerous state votes, a model parliament election, a Daily campus political poll, innumerable national votes abroad — such as the recent ones in Japan and New Zealand, and, today, a Students' Executive Council election.

Those of us brought up under democratic systems of government take this periodic opportunity to exercise our franchise for granted. So much so, that we seldom give it the recognition of usage.

Perhaps this is a sensible attitude. After all, the franchise is such a pain in the neck. You have to find out who each candidate is. You have to read over his platform, and then compare it to the others. You have to wait in line for a ballot and then identify yourself and then mark the ballot in favour of the candidate you prefer.

And even then your duties have not terminated. Having informed yourself and then registered your voice, an interest in the election inevitably latches onto you. And then you have a stake in the results. So you await the results impatiently. And that takes up more of your time.

All this is work, or at least time-consuming. And its hardly worth it, since nothing will really change if X gets in rather than his opponent Y.

It may seem that we have here tried only to enumerate all the rationalizations which students at this university have since time immemorial used to arm themselves against guilt complexes. Well, we have.

Most of you won't vote today, and as a result you'll feel guilty. So we thought we'd help out by providing you with a ready-made battery of excuses, a veneer of self-respectability.

Letter to the Editors

Professor Notes Daily Miscue

Sir:

Your reporter, Mr. Alan Chodos, stated in his account of the McGill Conference on World Affairs panel discussion on "Democracy in French Canada" that: "Oliver attacked the Roman Catholic Church as a stumbling block to democracy in Quebec". (McGill Daily, Friday, 25 November). This is a serious misrepresentation of my introductory remarks made on Thursday morning. At no time did I "attack" the Roman Catholic or any other Church.

I was attempting to review some of the recent critical literature on political attitudes in Quebec, most of it written by French Canadians who are also themselves dedicated Roman Catholics. Neither they nor I would wish to imply that Roman Catholicism is incompatible with democracy, but this is what the sentence I have quoted from Mr. Chodos suggests.

Please accept my thanks in advance for your cooperation in correcting the erroneous impression given by your report.

Michael Oliver,
Assistant Professor,
Department of Economics & Political Science.

Sir:

If Peter de Auer is startled by the treatment Prof. Lerner's writings got from the McGill university library, let him comb the Redpath catalogue for On Understanding Russia, by an economist named F. Cyril James.

From the Ivory Tower

Responsibility Of Broadcasters

by Bob Carswell

It seems to me that participants in the recent controversy over commercial radio in Montreal have missed one vital point. The question is not one of methods, it is one of PURPOSE. Why do C.K.G.M. and other Montreal stations give their listeners this frantic high-pressure treatment? In a recent letter, Andy Roman answers, simply because it makes money. This is the point I attack.

Is the purpose of the radio (and T.V., for that matter) simply to fatten the bank accounts of corporations that are already quite wealthy? Unfortunately, as it stands, the answer is in the affirmative. Radio is one of the most lucrative businesses in North America — if a station manager shows a profit of less than 50% of his gross advertising intake, he is doing poorly.

Teens form a very large part of the listening audience, and so when "ratings" (the bogymen of radio today) are taken, those stations which cater to the young people are at the top of the heap. Then the advertisers come along, and since ratings are the only criterion they have, C.K.G.M. gets the contracts and the money.

Of course, there is another factor here, and this is where the real danger lies. Teenagers indoctrinated to this type of brainwashing now will be more likely to accept it as the norm when they grow older, and C.K.G.M.'s style will become firmly entrenched in their minds as the standard, acceptable one.

So the music and announcing methods are aimed at the teens. The music is the simplest, most primitive nonsense ever contrived. The frenetic, crazy announcing methods seem to be aimed at eliminating the human voice entirely and substituting sound effects. The whole business is keyed to a level of great excitement, which is what modern day teenagers appear to thrive upon.

Now is this right? Should responsible citizens allow the radio stations to play into the hands of the advertisers? Should they allow themselves to be subject to material which is beamed at 14 year-olds?

Surely one of the tremendous benefits which radio can provide is to educate people. Even the "unhappy masses" have a vague realization of the benefits of an education. And it could be in their grasp for the price of a mantle radio, if it was impressed upon radio outlets that they have a RESPONSIBILITY TO THE PUBLIC as well as to their pocket-books.

C.F.O.X. has taken an admirable stand on the issue, as a start at least. Gordon Sinclair has decreed that there will be no rock and roll on his station, and his ratings on the Lakeshore are very high as a result.

C.B.M. naturally does not have to cater to any particular group of listeners, being sponsored by the government. It can be argued that they go too far, that most of their material is too far above the head of the common man to educate him. In this respect C.B.M. is just as guilty as C.K.G.M. But much of C.B.M.'s programming is excellent. Their morning show "Concert Time" is delightful, "Jazz at its Best" is a national institution, "C.B.C. Wednesday Night" is very informative, and their late night show is the perfect end to a hard day.

C.K.V.L.-F.M. plays classical, semi-classical, and good popular music on a twenty-four hours-a-day basis now. Those who can afford F.M. sets are treated to very tasteful programming all day long. A musical education such as this is surely very worthwhile.

C.F.C.F.'s is a sad tale. Over a period of twenty years they developed a style which had an enviable international reputation. When C.K.G.M. came along in 1959 and their ratings went up phenomenally (no doubt due to curiosity on the part of the listeners), C.F.C.F.'s management decided to follow the trend rather than buck it. As a result, C.F.C.F. seems to be not much more than an imitation of C.K.G.M.

C.J.A.D. is the middle-of-the-road station in Montreal. Their programming is tasteful though not very informative, and their announcing is intelligent.

What can we as McGill students do about the situation? Mr. Roman's suggestion was a good one. Come down to the meetings of the Radio Workshop and hear the C.K.G.M. people uphold their position, and fight back. We should also write letters to the stations and to the Board of Broadcast Governors. Above all let's not sit back and be indoctrinated!

ARTS AND SCIENCE - ELECT TWO

Eddie Aronoff

1. To fulfil its purpose, the S.E.C. must be brought into closer contact with the Student Body. I shall therefore encourage:

a. Greater supervision of Undergraduate Societies. With S.E.C. co-operation and direction, the A.S.U.S. could be encouraged to expand its program, and so reach more students in the faculty.

b. Open meetings.

c. Continued support for the committee on improving student-staff relations.

2. Greater encouragement to the International Students' Association to bring Foreign and Canadian students into closer harmony.

3. Continued support for the New Union.

PEN SKETCH

As this year's editor-in-chief of the McGill Handbook, Eddie has come in contact with every club, society, and organization on campus and has gained valuable insight and experience into their workings, needs and problems.

For the last three years, he has worked actively on the McGill Daily, and this year has become the founding editor of the new Campus Department. In his pages, he has covered major campus activities, revealing faults and offering constructive suggestions.

As well, he has participated on the Blood Drive, Model Parliament, and AIESEC Committees.

We feel that with this background, experience, and initiative there can be no better person to serve as Arts and Science Representative to the S.E.C. than Eddie Aronoff.

COMMITTEE FOR THE CANDIDATE

Naomi Kershman

Regardless of what you're told, it is impossible to solve every problem. There is a need for greater identification of the representative with the students — you have a right to know what is happening and I will attempt to make you aware of the pertinent S.E.C. proceedings through publication in the ASUS News. More co-operation between the SEC office and your undergraduate society will result in better programming for you and as Vice-President of the ASUS I can guarantee such co-operation.

In all facets of SEC operation, I will fight with vigor and sincerity for the rights and interests of the faculty; I will make myself heard and stand firm on what I think to be your best advantage.

It is also time that Science, as well as Arts, had a say in faculty policy!

PEN SKETCH

Naomi, forceful and dynamic, will back her convictions with action. Her McGill activities include Recreational Athletics Council member, Red and White Review, and Carlin Review in 1960, Promotions Chairman for Winter Carnival Debating '61, and most important First Vice-President of ASUS. This contact with the problems, needs, and functioning of our faculty give her the experience to serve you best.

COMMITTEE FOR THE CANDIDATE

Stan Messer

If elected, I will devote much of my time to truly represent the students of my faculty and specifically to support the following:

(1) A New Union in our day, i.e., in time for our use.

(2) An investigation into ways and means of bringing the student and the faculty into closer contact, especially for students in the general courses in Arts and Science.

(3) Promotion of the interests of clubs of our faculty and fraternities.

PEN SKETCH

We, the committee for Stan Messer, can truly say that Stan's record speaks for itself. Stan graduated from Northmount High School, where he led the school and placed sixth in the Province in Matriculation exams, entering McGill on a University Scholarship. He is now a Science Honours Psychology student.

He was president of first year and second year Arts and Science; an intercollegiate debater; winner of Bovey Shield, ASUS Debating Trophy, Montreal Debating League Trophy; and finalist in the Talbot-Papineau competition; member of Scarlet Key; Hillel governing board '59, '60, '61; Union Committees; combined charities. Stan is currently chairman of the WUS Treasure Van.

Stan is undoubtedly your man for SEC.

COMMITTEE FOR THE CANDIDATE

Bernard Schneider

Bernard Schneider is a third year student honouring in History and Political Science. If elected, we do not want you to forget Bernard. We want you to represent yourselves through him. We want you to understand the importance of the S.E.C. It controls a large sum of money and sends delegates to many conferences. It is important that we see what it does. Therefore we promise to raise a motion to the effect that its meetings be open to any student spectator. Just as parliament is open to scrutiny, so should our parliament — S.E.C. Furthermore, Bernard promises to raise this issue or resign.

In accordance with this policy, we propose to endeavour to have the library open longer. This we believe is most important.

We also plan to enquire into the one armed bandit situated in the Arts Building basement. Many's the time, we have deposited ten cents and received five cents worth of coke in an oversized cup. Either correct this fallacy or install fair dealing bottled-drink machines.

In view of these policies and ideas on the many other inadequacies around, we hope that you will vote for Bernard Schneider.

COMMITTEE FOR THE CANDIDATE

Ray Smith

If elected, I will do my best to see that the Students' Executive Council:

Passes a resolution, and if necessary holds protest meetings, urging Provincial Government to carry out its election promises of free education. The Students' Society is the only organization representing McGill students as a whole, and it is high time that it act in our interest by doing all in its power to bring about a programme of immediate and continuing reductions in fees, leading to free education in a definite length of time.

Passes a resolution calling for financial aid to Arts students. This aid is being denied to them alone, by the Provincial Government.

Increases democracy on the campus by (a) opening all SEC meetings to the students, (b) allowing fairer representation for Arts and Science, the largest faculty on the campus. Restores observance of Students' Day — to bring to public attention the fact that education is a right, not a privilege.

PEN SKETCH

Ray Smith, a third-year Honours Mathematical Physics student, is vice-president and one of the organizers of the Combined University Campaign for Nuclear Disarmament at McGill. He is a member of Skean-Dhu and the Folk Music Society.

COMMITTEE FOR THE CANDIDATE

Graduate Studies - Elect One

Oded J. Frenkel

If elected, I shall continue towards achieving the following:

This year rent a house to serve as a co-operative lodging for out of town and foreign post-graduate students to provide room and board at lower prices. The house may serve as a meeting place for all post-graduates.

Incorporate into the plans for the New Union (now being revised) a lounge for post-graduates.

Form an annual reception and information committee to welcome new and foreign students at the Graduate Faculty Office during registration week, and sponsor an orientation party immediately following registration.

Present a series of three lectures by an eminent guest speaker on a topic of general interest to post-graduate students.

Organize an annual Ball in which the post-graduate students play host to the Faculty and wives.

I believe this program will put to best use the $1600 available to us this year.

PEN SKETCH

Oded J. Frenkel (B.Sc. McGill, '59) served as SEC representative for post-graduate students since the beginning of the academic year. Presently he is a member of the Adams Club, Captain of the McGill Judo Team, and has been active on Flying Carpet, Forge, Film Society, Mathematics Club, and Students' Physics Society.

COMMITTEE FOR THE CANDIDATE

W. J. Thurlow

William Thurlow graduated from Carleton in 1959 with B.Sc. in biology and is presently doing graduate work in the Dept. of Genetics under Dr. Fraser.

He has been past-president of biology club at Carleton and active member of executive, University Co-op Residence, McGill. Platform: In past years the Post Graduate Society of McGill has led a life so tranquil and unruffled that those for whom it purported to represent — the graduate students — if not totally innocent of its existence, were at least innocent of any knowledge of its function and purpose.

Then, last year, a hitherto dormant flame suddenly ignited student interest and provoked a controversy which brought the Society into brilliant focus. It seems to me that this newly-discovered interest should not be allowed to subside and that a no more propitious time than the present will be found in which to revitalize the Society such that it becomes not only a representative but a clearly audible voice in the life of our university.

Having, as I do, a knowledgeable acquaintance with most of the graduate faculties, I feel that, as graduate representative to S.E.C., I might make some contribution.

COMMITTEE FOR THE CANDIDATE

Eric Snider

If elected I will try to bring about a redistribution of seats on the SEC.

It is ridiculous that three faculties with as little connection as Education, Music, and Divinity should have only one representative. Either Divinity or Education should constitute a separate constituency.

Born in Ontario, Eric graduated from the University of Toronto in 1959. At present he is in second year at McGill in the Faculty of Divinity and attends the United Theological College. Eric, 1960-61 President of the McGill Student Christian Movement, is active in debating, is an ardent supporter of all forms of radicalism including the Mission in McGill, January 22-29 1961, and is an occasional reader of the McGill Daily.

COMMITTEE FOR THE CANDIDATE

A ZEBRA SKIN DRUM

Union Lounge 10 a.m.-10 p.m.

Eleanor Spence

As the representative from Divinity, Music and Education on the SEC, I would endeavour to act in accordance with the best interests of these groups, and of the entire student body. A problem relevant to all students is the lack of amiability between students and staff, and if elected, I shall endeavour to establish closer bonds between the two. I shall attempt to bring to the attention of the student body as a whole, the potential available within the smaller schools and faculties on campus, and at the same time, further acquaint these groups with the numerous activities in which they are welcome to participate.

PEN SKETCH

Eleanor is in third year Physical Education. She attended Mount Royal High School, where she was active on the Students' Council, Junior Red Cross, and Girls' Athletic Association. She was class president, and won the Rose Bowl, awarded for the greatest contribution to sports. She attended Macdonald College, where she served as publicity chairman of the Prom Committee, and Director of the Macdonald Royal Gymnastic Display. She was class Vice-President, and in 1960, won the A. S. Lamb Scholarship. Last summer, she was employed in Germany, by the R.C.A.F., as a Recreation Specialist.

COMMITTEE FOR THE CANDIDATE

P. & O. T., Grad. Nurses, and Social Work

Lynn Berrill

If I am elected I will do my best to serve the interests of the faculties of Social Work, Graduate Nurses and Physio and Occupational Therapy. I believe that it is possible for more individuals to understand the workings of the SEC and I will endeavor to keep my faculties informed so that they too can feel a part of the governing of our University.

PEN SKETCH

We feel that because of Lynna's active participation in so many activities on campus, she is better able to understand the problems facing SEC and to help the SEC function in a most efficient way.

She has served McGill in the following activities: Class president, Blood Drive, Freshette Reception, Red and White Revue, Combined Charities, Women's Union Scholarship Fund Drives, Fashion Show, McGill Conference of World Affairs, World University Service, Model Parliament, Open House, Choral Society, Winter Carnival and Graduation Ball.

If Lynn is elected we are sure she will be a worthy representative of her faculties.

COMMITTEE FOR THE CANDIDATE

Gail Parkins

Students of Nursing, Physical and Occupational Therapy and Social Work must spend a great amount of time away from McGill campus to complete the practical aspects of their training. They need an active and interested liaison between themselves and the rest of the university.

If elected, I would try to fulfill this need by keeping in very close contact with the executive and students of each of these three schools. In this manner, I would be aware of all problems and would be truly representing their views on subjects dealt with by the S.E.C.

PEN SKETCH

A fourth year Bachelor of Science in Nursing student, Gail is an enthusiastic participant in many campus and nursing affairs. She is on the executive of the Choral Society and a member of the Marietta. She has also been active on several Women's Union committees and in Freshette Reception '60. She is on the executive of the Nursing Undergraduate Society and is McGill's representative to the Student Nurses' Association of Quebec. She is also on the executive of the S.N.A.

Because of her executive ability and experience, her interest and her enthusiasm, Gail has our wholehearted support.

COMMITTEE FOR THE CANDIDATE

Women's Union - Vice-President

Elizabeth Duquet

Liz derives her practical knowledge of Women's Union affairs, essential for this position, from experience as a current member of the Executive Council (Daily representative), Chairman of the Big Sisters' Tea, editor of the Clubbook, Handbook and Bulletin, International Students' Association representative.

Debating Union's high school tournament programme, has been on Got-It Made's production staff, SCOPE committee, Combined Charities. She holds Women's Union "B" and Daily Silver awards.

Examine the candidates' records — we are certain Liz Duquet will be your choice.

1) Chairman of Resident Reception 2) Chairman of the China Display 3) Participant in the Fashion Show.

Other responsible positions include: 1) President of the Recreational Activities Council. 2) member of the RVO House Council.

Among other activities, she has worked for Annual Sales, Combined Charities, Convocation Baccalaureate Service and has maintained a second class average.

For these reasons, Lyn MacKenzie should be elected to this executive position.

Because of her experience and wide range of activities, we feel she would be an asset to the Women's Union in the position of resident member-at-large.

WAA Representative

Lynne Allen

The committee for Lynne Allen feels that she qualifies for the position of first year representative because of her numerous contributions to athletics, in high school, as both organizer and participant.

Her record reads: President of the Girls' Athletic Association at Montreal West High School. President of the Mixed Badminton Club, winner of the Mersereau Shield for leadership in athletics.

THE MILDST BEST-TASTING CIGARETTE

sideline comments

by BERTHA KALIFON and YVETTE HOCH

Today, students go to the polls to elect the future campus leaders who will represent them in the various organizations on campus. Although interest is focused on the SEC elections (because they involve the student body as an entity) may we bring to your attention the "lesser important" elections; in particular, the voting for the First Year Representative on the Women's Athletic Association.

The first year representative on the Association is the only official bond that freshettes at McGill have with the organizers of the athletic programme and the only channel through which they can express themselves. The coeds contending have shown, by their desire to become a member of the WAA, an interest in the organization aspect of athletics and a willingness to benefit women's sports.

The duties of the First Year Representative are scattered: Their main endeavor is to learn the workings of the Women's Athletic and Recreational Councils and observe how all the various clubs are organized and coordinated. A secondary function is to aid in the planning of the Awards Banquet.

It is aspiring freshettes such as the three contenders who will eventually be at the helm. Therefore we feel that this voting privilege should be exercised wisely.

From those grave matters we pass to lighter topics and elaborate on several sports clubs which are carrying on extensive activity on the athletic scene.

SKI TRAINING CAMP

The Ski Jay Training Camp will be held over the holidays for potential skiing stars. All those interested in trying out for the McGill ski team as well as the Laurentian Zone Racing can now sign the list on the RVC notice board. This training camp is held especially for the purpose of conditioning skiers who plan to take part in racing later this winter. It is essential that all coeds sign up immediately as plans have to be made before the holidays.

INTERCOLLEGIATE BOWLING

One of the most interesting features in Women's athletics is the Intercollegiate Telegraphing Bowling Meet. Universities across Canada are asked to enter this cross-country event, which is an excellent example of intercollegiate co-operation. Last year ten universities and colleges entered the competition, and the meet proved to be a great success.

President, Roz Saginur, announced that this week, ten McGill coeds from the Bowling Club will be chosen to enter, and the tournament will be played next Thursday, December 8. The scores and results will then be wired to the Intervarsity Manager at the University of Alberta.

The winner and runners-up are determined solely by this telegraphic method, which is somewhat different from the ordinary college sports program.

BADMINTON RESULTS

The Intramural Badminton doubles were played last week, ending the clubs program in Intramural competition. Winners this year of the doubles event were Frances Rorke and Lynne Allen, of Science. Both girls, newcomers to McGill's athletic circles, are in their first year. With several years at McGill ahead of them, this duet should be able to represent the Red and White most competently in future bouts.

WOMEN'S OPEN BASKETBALL LEAGUE

Two of McGill's entries in the Women's Open Basketball League started the season off on the right foot by defeating their opponents with decisive scores.

In a Junior tilt, the McGills handed Collège Jésus-Marie a 21-12 shellacking, thanks mainly to the fine efforts of a newcomer to the team, Vici Christmas, who accounted for 9 points. The defense, displaying almost a complete turnover in personnel from last year, played well enough to stagnate Jésus-Marie's forward line throughout the game, holding them to a dozen markers.

In the second game of the evening, McGill's two teams in the Senior Section of WOBL met in what turned out to be a lopsided contest. The Whites, back in the league after a one year absence, handily downed the Reds 33-14. Dot Pryde, up front, played spectacularly at times, scoring a total of 14 points. A number of veteran basketball players, including Anne Hewitt, Barb Gatehouse, Sally Sadler (back from Macdonald College), Mary Lawson, Mary Farr, and Ruth Wisse, turned the game into a fine all around team effort.

Undefeated Redmen To Challenge The U of M

by BOB GOLDSCHLEGER

McGill seems to have another winning team for the 1960-61 season, thus far, the basketball Redmen have won their first two games and are getting stronger every outing. Their shooting, their defensive play and their high-flying spirit have carried them into the lead in the Senior Montreal Basketball League.

At the start of the new year, McGill will commence play in the other league in which it is entered. This is the Intercollegiate loop. McGill's opponents in this league will be Toronto, McMaster and Queen's.

Nothing much has been heard about these teams but it is expected that McMaster will be the team to beat. In addition to their two forwards, who are 6'7" and 6'8" respectively, the Marauders have acquired the services of Pete Reisak, who was top scorer in the league two years ago.

In the meantime the Redmen have been achieving great success in the city league. They whipped Loyola decisively in their first game and managed to squeak by Sir George Williams last week. Tonight they will be playing University of Montreal at Currie Gym at 8:15. Two weeks ago U of M were beaten by Sir George by a score of 64-62. Therefore McGill's hopes are high for a win this evening.

McGill's basketball chances seem to center around the 6'4" frame of John Girvin. His height and all-around basketball ability have provided the team with extra experience which is so sorely needed. Against Sir George, John stopped their top man, Willie Epstein cold. Without Epstein the Sir George offense seemed to fall apart and they subsequently lost the game.

Another reason why the Redmen are on the winning trail is that Gary Ulrich is playing up to old-time form. He was all over the court last week, grabbing rebounds setting up plays and scoring the winning baskets. Along with Gary, John Moore and Ben Shore both turned in standout performances.

The Redmen shone particularly on defence which seems to be the strongest aspect of their play this season. They have contained their opponents so well that only 65 points have been scored against them. This is a very small figure in basketball terms.

Tonight at 8:15 at Sir Arthur Currie Gymnasium, our winning team goes warpath again.

The McGill Indians water-polo team beat Sir George 8-5 last night.

"He has a brilliant future behind him"

He just dropped in for a chat. I hadn't seen him since we were undergraduates. He had everything then: a bright, quick mind, drive, imagination... big plans. He graduated with top honours in our class...

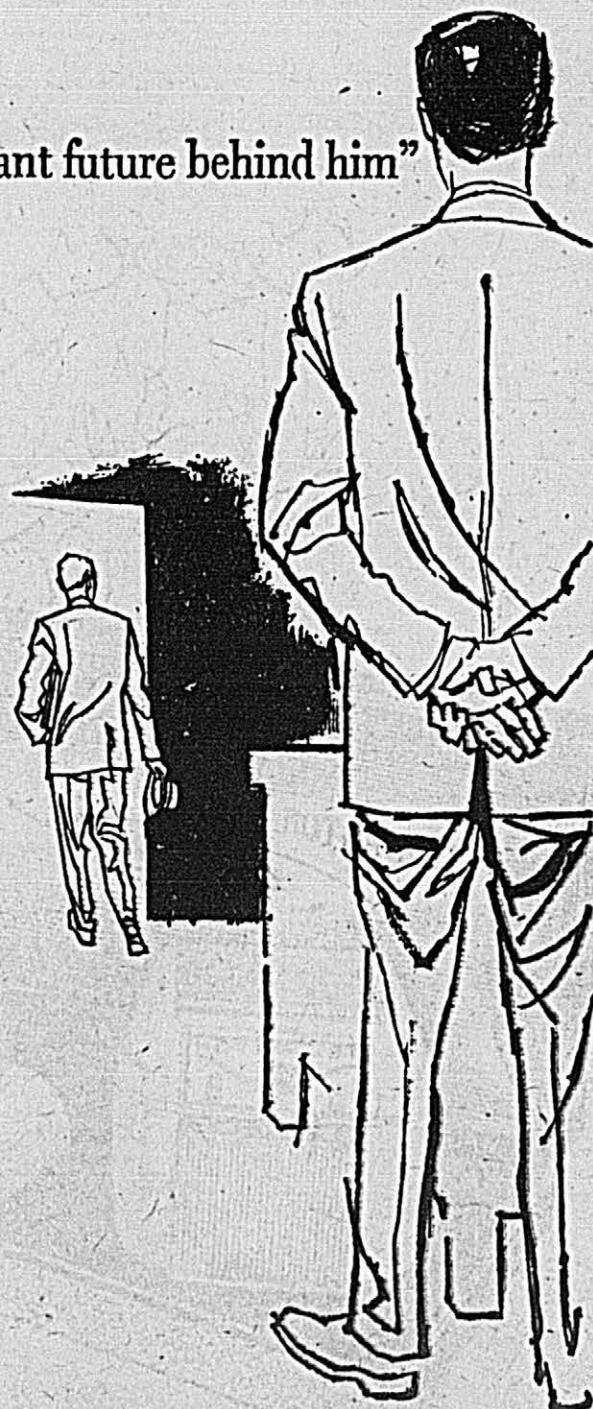

But when he talked to me, he seemed dried up. No sparkle, no nothing—as though that parchment was his certificate of having learned everything there was to be learned. I asked about his job—and then I knew: It's steady, but it's dull.

It made me think. Perhaps I'm just lucky, but aluminum is different. There's no end to what you can do with it. I haven't been with Alcan too long, but half the things they're doing with aluminum now weren't even on the drawing board when I started. If you'll pardon the cliché: It's the metal of the future, all right.

And yet, with Alcan you have the benefits of being with a long-established company. You know—good salary, pension plan, stock purchase plan, and so on. It all adds up to much more than a job: it's a career. And with aluminum, the future isn't behind you, and it isn't way out front. It's right here. It's what you make of it—today.

That's why Alcan is always looking for young graduates who want to keep on growing.

Swimmers Rank Third; Indian Cagers Face Roll Stars In Diving

by YVETTE HOCH
Assoc. Women's Sports Ed.

By breaking three intercollegiate swimming records, Western proceeded to take the top spot in the Women's Intercollegiate Swim Meet held at the Currie Pool last Friday and Saturday. McGill came third in the meet. This was one of the closest swim meets in several years and all teams (McGill, Western, University of Toronto, Queen's) put out a terrific effort for their respective universities.

SPEED EVENT

In the speed swimming events held Saturday, the Western team totaled up 32 points, followed by University of Toronto with 28 points. McGill came third with 21, while Queen's stayed in the cellar with 15.

Two records were broken by Western's Mary Lou Whitwill. In the 100 yd free style she clipped 3.5 secs off the old record of 1:06. and changed the former 75 yd individual medley record from 51.1 to 49.6 seconds.

Toronto's Bonnie Benson splashed up a new time for the 50 yd breast stroke, in 34.8 secs, 3 secs less than the old speed mark of 35.1.

The only speed swimming victory credited to McGill was the 50 yd backstroke, in which Marg Orser was clocked in at 35.2 seconds.

McGill's Heather Brooks-Hill tailed close after Toronto's G. Fisher to rank second in the 50 yd free style. She covered the distance in 30.6 secs. only .8 secs behind the winner.

Shirley Szebik, another McGill star, managed to capture a second place position in the 50 yd breast stroke in 34.8 seconds.

MEDLEY MISFORTUNE

McGill ran into misfortune in the 200 yd medley relay. The Red and White foursome splashed up and down the lanes to touch the finish line in a time of 2:18.5, breaking the old relay record of 2:27. The Western team finished their relay in the exact same time, but instead of calling this event a tie, the officials awarded the win to the Londonites. This was a pretty unlucky break for the McGills, who had displayed an equally good effort in the event.

McGill's Dorothy Roll was the pride of our team when she took the top spot in the diving competition. She netted 127.35 points to nose out Varsity's Judy Ireland who totalled 125.25.

ROLL STARS

Miss Roll placed second in the diving event last year and should she continue her present good performances, this young star could easily dive her way to fame in years to come.

The synchronized solo event was taken by Western's Fran Rintoul and Edith Dorsey of McGill was runner up with 334 points.

The McGill girls won the duet trio event with 352 points. The coach responsible for the victory were Jill Challoner, Joanne Denny, and Margaret Harris, who displayed a graceful impressario of modern art, called "Coulage". Second was Toronto with 331 points.

In the last event of this category, synchronized swimming skills, including sculling and strokes, Joanne Tait of Toronto came first, followed by Ann Fanning from Western. McGill's Joanne Denny and Marg Harris ranked fifth and seventh respectively.

The intermediate Indian cagers, fresh from overwhelming victories in their first two league tilts against Loyola and Sir George, will attempt to continue their scourge of the league, tonight, when they clash with U of M in the Currie Gymnasium.

This shapes up as a crucial contest since the strong U of M squad is the only team in the "Intermediate Big Four", that the undefeated McGills have not yet encountered. The Indians have displayed the potential, and tonight's game should ascertain whether or not the MIBL will be turned into a two-division league — with McGill resting in the higher echelons and the other three teams scrambling for second place. Although the season is only two games old, the Indians have already shown their complete domination over Loyola and Sir George. They humbled Loyola by 30 points and netted 25 more points than the Georgians. In each game Coach Neil MacGregor made liberal substitutions throughout and experimented with new offensive and defensive tactics. This leads to wonder what would happen if the squad actually applied the pressure.

The Indians whipped the Royal Military College 53-37 in an exhibition game, last Wednesday in St. Johns. Captain Ron Horeck spearheaded the McGill attack with 21 points. Coach MacGregor reports that it was a close, hard-fought affair through most of the game. The boys from St. Johns were in far better physical condition as a result of McGill's game the previous night against the Georgian Blues. MacGregor attributed the Indian victory and 16 point spread to the deadly shooting of the McGill five. In the words of the coach, "... we were outbounded and almost run into the floor." — but the shooting more than made up for this, as is evident from the score.

A welcome addition to the squad, at guard, is Ewert Budget, who was found ineligible for the Seniors, with whom he has been practicing. MacGregor plans to team him with Don Devine and two-platoon this defensive corps with the unit of Hunter and Chiprum. Ricky Blatt will alternate between the two.

The Indians have had a week's rest and are up for tonight's first encounter with U of M. Game time is 7 o'clock in the Arthur Currie Memorial Gymnasium.
